ABSTRACT

Focusing on periodicals that consistently carry materials about reading, this contributor's guide presents two lists of information on 186 journals, magazines, newsletters, newspapers, and yearbooks. Every periodical included appears alphabetically on each of the two lists. The first list offers information about editor, address, and editorial procedures. The second list is in the form of a matrix primarily because of the compactness of that format. It provides additional information including audience, the types of material published, editorial processes, and miscellaneous items. A sample of the survey sent to the periodicals is included. (RS)

How to Use the Contributor's Guide to Periodicals in Reading

Scope

The two lists that follow include basic information about periodicals that consistently carry materials about reading. The information was provided by the editors of those periodicals in response to a questionnaire.

Using This Guide

Every periodical included in this guide appears alphabetically on each of the two lists. The first list offers information about editor, address, and editorial procedures. The second list is presented as a matrix primarily because of the compactness of that format. To use this guide most efficiently, please first read the sample questionnaire which precedes the matrix. Editors' responses to starred items on the questionnaire are reported in the matrix, and responses to unstarred items are reported in the first list. Quotation marks in the first list indicate comments of individual editors.

This guide in no way reflects advocacy or endorsement by the International Reading Association of any periodical except, of course, for the four IRA journals included.
